Virtual Atlantykrón Academy for Learning

ATLANTYKRON 2020

In these uncertain times due to COVID-19, World Genesis Foundation and Center for Complexity Studies have decided to announce the Virtual Atlantykrón Summer Academy of Learning 2020.

The Academy is a fun, exciting and unique learning experience, one of its only kind in the world for the last 30 years. It brings together hundreds of youth and world experts in many areas of science, culture, arts, sport and communications in an outdoor setting. Although this year will be different, it is an opportunity study and explore the most important issues and sciences as well as other subjects, shaping our world today and tomorrow.

Keeping in line with the ideals of UNESCO, Atlantykrón Summer academy greatly promotes UNESCO core goals to contribute to the creation of sustainable development and intercultural dialogue by promoting collaboration among nations through education, science, culture and communication. This year creates a wonderful chance to reach so many across the world, from students, experts, public officials and other dignitaries.

Biosemiotics in the Reinterpretation of Nature

<http://complexity.ro/>

Biosemiotics in the reinterpretation of Nature

We are living into a realm of shapes and forms, a realm of signs. We use semiotics as the science that deals with the study. It's an important domain in science because understanding is dependent on knowing, recognizing and assuming the mining of those signs.

The meaning associated with the sign becomes the object of another science: Semantics. Between Sign and Significance (mining) has woven a network generated by feelings, experiences, and information acquired through education, self-development and through cultural development. This network, depending on the history and individual particularities, is responsible for the degree of understanding and interpretation of Nature and for the reactions we have in front of its evolution.

From traffic signs to the alphabet, from a function chart to a household object, all these can be considered "signs" (shapes, patterns) that mediate communication in society. Form becomes an essential element in communication and communication an essential aspect of society itself.

In this workshop we will talk about a special semiotics. A semiotics of the Living, the signs of Nature and not of the signs associated with the world of artifacts in which we are immersed today.

Biosemiotics is a meta-discipline that studies Live Communication.

Signs are structures (patterns), packed in biomolecules (pheromones for example), and modulated on different carriers (acoustic, electromagnetic, photonic or phononic). The very shape of a butterfly or the drawing on the skin of a snake are "signs" that ensure communication in the realm of the living. From this perspective Signs are physical manifestation of information, a special kind of information. Viewed as In-Form (action) we talk about an ontological dimension nearby energy and matter, a new paradigm that can be used for a better understanding of the Nature.

We will talk about the history Biosemiotics, working methods, evaluation techniques (fractal analysis, nonlinear evaluation of no periodically structures, data clusterisations) and some applications such as Music Therapy, Urban Sono-therapy and why not, even the search for Extraterrestrial Intelligence from a completely different perspective than the conventional one (sending "Morse signals" by power laser beams).

Notions of Semiotics and Biosemiotics; From Sign to Meaning: A special dimension of information and a new paradigm; from Draganescu to Wheeler, an informational vision of the Universe: The consequences of the new paradigm in understanding, the relationship between the geosphere, biosphere and noosphere: The Gaia model - the living planet, from Information to Consciousness;

The Science and Meaning of Water

Nina is a Canadian ecologist and novelist. She worked for 25 years as an environmental consultant in the field of aquatic ecology and limnology, publishing papers and technical reports on water quality and impacts to aquatic ecosystems. Nina has written over a dozen eco-fiction, science fiction and fantasy novels. An award-winning short story writer, and essayist, Nina currently lives in Toronto where she teaches writing at the University of Toronto and George Brown College. Her book "Water Is..." (Pixl Press)—a scientific study and personal journey as limnologist, mother, teacher and environmentalist—was picked by Margaret Atwood in the New York Times as 2016 'The Year in Reading'. Nina's most recent novel is "A Diary in the Age of Water"—about four generations of women and their relationship to water in a rapidly changing world—released in June 2020 by Inanna Publications.

The Science and Meaning of Water

A summary of water's life-giving anomalous properties on Earth and a discussion of the history and field of limnology (study of freshwater). I will discuss our history with water (including our impacts) and the implications of climate change on our future with water on the planet. Points of interest discussed will include water's many weird properties, water's ubiquity and its origins, the hydrological cycle, and the often strange adaptations of life with (or without) water. Discussion of future implications of water scarcity (and geopolitical conflict) will follow.

President of the Human Knowledge Research and Development Institute, Romania

Generating and solving crises to avoid imbalances and catastrophes

Crises are generated and hybridized if not resolved in time. However, there is a functional pattern that allows them to be solved in several stages of work. This requires a change in the perception of significant details and the identification of natural solutions.

WHO'S AFRAID OF AUTONOMOUS CARS

"Who's Afraid of Autonomous Cars" is a two hours deep dive in the current state of the art technologies used in driver-less cars developments, cars which will redefine the concept of mobility.

The presentation starts with the SAE (Society of Automotive Engineers) definition of vehicle automation levels, describes the hardware systems and the Artificial Intelligence methods and algorithms needed for full autonomy, and tries to sketch a path from current challenges to the (near) future, when the robotaxis will share the roads with the human drivers.

PRACTICAL RELAXATION SESSION

Our brain is able to programme itself, to programme the self-healing process and also the self-regeneration process. In our evolution we can find a cyclic system with regard to the regeneration and recovery of our cells.

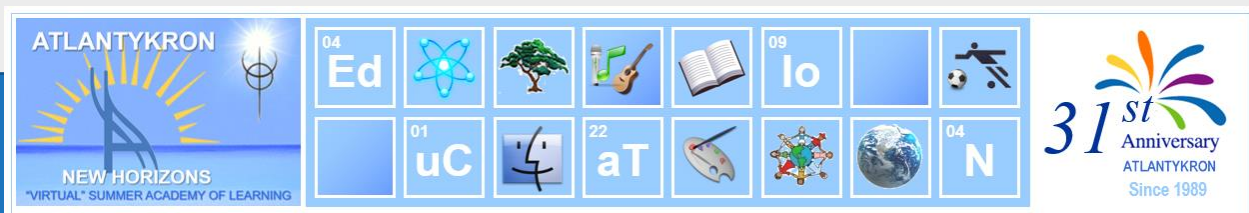

Within this workshop I will address a short-term, but very effective relaxation technique. It merges both practical elements of mental training and positive suggestion, in order to access the state of modified consciousness obtained through relaxation and to harness mental resources in order to optimize mental and physical health. The positive effects of this combined technique have been observed and confirmed over the course of twenty-five years, since I introduced them into current, clinical and therapeutical practice.

NEW HORIZONS OF ANIMAL- HUMAN RELATIONSHIPS

Starting with respect for animal rescuers. When people mention animal rescue or welfare, it is usually in the context of a romanticized journey to some far corners of the earth to save or rescue wild animals. But, often overlook are community animals that are sometimes crudely referred to as strays.

Their plight is right in front of us but they are overlooked. They are not pets to be pampered nor wild animals with research grants. These animals are cared for by many people who often self-finance the care of these animals. Because of prejudice, the solution to community animals is culling. And the attitude towards their rescuer's ad feeders is a negative one. If we can start to appreciate community animals as fellow beings and to respect and support the rescuers, wonders can happen. It is also a door way to reexamine animals issues. From responsible pet ownership and a lifestyle that reduces the suffering of animals; vegan and avoiding animal tested products.

So the change for the new horizon is a change in attitude to embrace a lifestyle of wisdom and compassion.

Apocalyptic 2020

Will we soon experience the cataclysmic intervention of God for the Salvation of mankind for we are surely living in the most challenging of times.

For almost 180 days we have experienced a worldwide pandemic with quarantine, lockdowns, food shortages, business and school closings all over the world.

In the US as of February 2020 face masks are mandatory along with 6-foot social distancing.

Many of our major cities are experiencing rioting, looting, vandalism, and complete Mayhem has broken out. Historic statues are toppling and churches and places of worship are burning.

Surveillance is everywhere and daily more and more conservative platforms are Vanishing.

Socialists communism is attempting to overthrow our government and its people.

We are discovering that a great many deceivers and inversionist are running government, big Tech, mainstream media, Hollywood and the music industry. Their morality is likened to a modern day Sodom and Gamora. ie; Jeffrey Epstein, his flight log of attendees on the Lolita Express and the visiting to his and others various pedophile Island. What has been done to the children by these people are the vilest of crimes against humanity. Only those who have forsaken God could do such evil.
